Part One

Imagine you lived in a community in Massachusetts near the Underground Railroad. A neighbor is helping a group of runaway slaves and asks you to let some of the slaves spend the night in your barn. Answer the following questions:

- 1) Would you allow the runaway slaves to sleep in your barn? Why or why not?
- 2) What would you say to your neighbor?

Your response should be at least one paragraph long and include a description of the Underground Railroad.

Part Two

Harriet Tubman lived to the age of 92. If you could have met Tubman when she was in her eighties and asked her five good questions, what would you ask her?

- 1) Write five open-ended questions. Open-ended questions are questions that cannot be answered with a simple "yes" or "no." You don't need to answer the questions.
- 2) Your questions should show your knowledge from the short reading in the textbook about Harriet Tubman. Include some facts in your questions.
